

The Long Game: Building Value That Lasts

Whatever you're building towards, the fundamentals are the same: clean data, provable compliance and a growth engine that doesn't rely on you. In a market where consolidators are buying well-run, well-evidenced businesses, and the FCA expects you to prove good outcomes at every turn, long-term value comes from getting the basics right.

Whatever your long-term plans, this lunch is built for brokers who want a business that stands on its own. nCino and BIBA will showcase how to build lasting value into your business:

- Grow a provable pipeline with structured, data-driven client targeting that shows exactly where growth is coming from and why it's sustainable
- Show clean compliance through continuous sanctions screening and corporate change monitoring that stands up to scrutiny, whoever's asking
- Run without you as Acturis integration automates KYC validation and admin, so the business works whether or not you're in the room
